

SENGENYAMA Park

Tokyo Metropolitan Sengenya Park

Legend

- Toilet
- Drinking fountain
- Bus stop
- Rest area (Arbor)
- Accessible drinking fountain
- Cycle park
- 100 Specially Chosen Plants of Fuchu
- Park information board
- Parking area (for disabled people)

Musashinokisuge daylilies

This is a native plant that only grows wild in Sengenya Park. The best time to see the flowers is in mid-May, when they decorate the park with their colors.

The spring greenery of the copse

This copse contains plants that retain the look of old Musashino, like konara oaks and hornbeam. This area is preserved as a precious piece of natural scenic beauty.

100 Views of Fuji (Winter Fuji)

Photo provided by the Sengenya Nature Preservation Association

Onnazaka slope

This slope leads the way to Doyama, where Sengen Shrine is located.

Opened: June 1, 1970
Area: 87,694.48m<sup>2</sup> (as of June 1, 2016)

* Those wishing to use the parking area for disabled persons must contact Musashino Park Service center in advance. (Japanese language only)

Kisuge-bashi Bridge

Sengen Shrine

Omitarasi Shrine

Grave site of Shiro Hitomi

Arbor

Separated area (playground)

